Both Houses adjourned till Monday.

SENATE.

THE APPROPRIATION BILL.

The Appropriation bill was voted down on the third reading by a vote of 12 to 20.

This action on the part of the Senate is the result of a conviction that the appropriations are too large for the capacity of the Treasury, and creates some sensation, as it places the bill in a peculiar position. Most of the retiring Senators voted "no."

THE CAPITAL.

Silk Manufactures—Second Auditor of the Treasury—Court of Claims Vacancy—Georgia Case—Alabama Election—Cabinet Session—Why Black would not Defend the President—Naval Appropriation Bill.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, March 27, 1868.

SILK MANUFACTURES.

The Secretary of State sent to the House to-day a report of Elliott C. Cowdin, our Commissioner to the Paris Exposition, on the subject of silk and silk manufactures, in which he says it is as easy for the United States as it is for England to immediately secure a supply of raw silk. On reaching New York by way of California, it would be distributed, not only among our own manufacturers, but a portion would doubtless reach foreign countries. More especially may America be encouraged to prosecute the industry, in view of the exemption of our continent from the malignity among silk worms now prevailing in Europe.

TREASURY AUDITOR.

No action yet has been taken on the nomination of Col. Burnside as Second Auditor of the Treasury. It is understood the movement for his appointment originated with the western friends of Burnside.

COURT OF CLAIMS VACANCY.

Ex-Senator Foster has been urged by his friends to accept the appointment as one of the Judges to the Court of Claims, to supply the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Wilmot, and they say he has consented to do so.

THE GEORGIA CASE.

In the Supreme Court Mr. Black asked that the argument on the preliminary injunction bill in the case of the State of Georgia and General Grant and others be heard. The Court declined, process having not yet been served on the counsel for the military authorities and General Grant.

THE ALABAMA ELECTION—GEN. MEADE'S REPORT.

General Meade's report of the recent election for a Constitution in the State of Alabama has been received at army headquarters. The report is the same as that transmitted to Congress recently, showing the defeat of the Constitution.

CABINET SESSION.

The usual Cabinet session was held to-day, lasting a little over an hour. All the members were present, including General Thomas. Nothing unusual occurred.

THE REASON WHY.

Mr. Black says some parts of the various published statements why he declined to act as one of the counsel for the President are mere speculations. The reason why he refused to be retained was, it was impossible for him to defend the President, if the President sustained the Secretary of State in the Alta Vela case, and he was well satisfied the President did sustain the position of Mr. Seward.

TREASURY MATTERS.

The conference report adopted to-day on the joint resolution directing certain monies now in the hands of the U. S. Treasurer, as special agent of the Treasury Department, to be covered by warrent into the U. S. Treasury, limits the sum allowed to the Secretary of the Treasury for contesting suits to $75,000.

NAVAL APPROPRIATIONS.

The Senate Committee on Appropriations reported to-day the following amendments in the naval appropriation bill: The proviso requiring unexpended balances, or money derived from sales of public property, which may remain unexpended next July, to be covered into the Treasury is stricken out, as is also the provision that civil engineers, naval storekeepers and master mechanics of the several navy yards shall be appointed by the President, with consent of the Senate, from civil life and not from the navy. The appropriation for the pay of the marine corps is reduced from $877,000 to $170,000; that for provision for marine corps from $127,000 to $100,000; for clothing, from $102,000 to $100,000; and for transportation of officers and recruits, same corps, from $20,000 to $12,000. The amount appropriated for pay of mechanics and laborers and for support of the department of steam engineering at naval academies is reduced from $7,000 to $5,000, and the amount for binnacles to be made in navy yards from $6,000 to $3,000. The following appropriations are stricken out: For libraries for vessels, $4,500; for salary of deputy clerks at the naval observatory, $4,000; for naval laboratory, $20,000; for repairs of marine barracks at Washington, $5,000. The appropriation for pay of Professors at the Naval Academy is increased from $73,000 to $76,700, and that for the expenses of visitors from $1,000 to $2,000. There is also an amendment to authorize the enlistment of 1,250 apprentices and boys in addition to the 8,500 seamen, landsmen and mechanics authorized by the bill to be employed in the navy.

NAME OMITTED.

The name of Senator Yates was accidentally omitted in the Senate proceedings yesterday in the affirmative votes passing the Judicial bill over the President's veto.

—A shooting affray took place last night in front of the United States Hotel, at Louisville, Ky. Yankee Bleigh, a police officer, in attempting to separate two hackmen who were scuffling, was assaulted by them, when he drew his pistol, firing twice at William Weyman, one of the assaulting party, the balls taking effect in his neck and body, producing mortal wounds.

FORTIETH CONGRESS.

Supplement to National Currency Act—Conference on the Bill Exempting Certain Manufacturers from Tax—Judiciary Bill Passed Over the President's Veto in the House and the Speaker Declared it to be a Law—Naval Appropriation Bill.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 27th, 1868.

Mr. CHANDLER called up the bill to regulate the coasting trade on the northern, northwestern and northeastern frontiers of the United States, for which he offered an elaborate substitute. Mr. C. explained that a vessel clearing at Buffalo is now obliged to take out a manifest at every port at which she touches. The bill authorized the Captain to state in the original manifest what his cargo is and where to be delivered, without requiring him to take out any other until he should reach his destination. The fees otherwise are but slightly changed.

At the suggestion of Mr. FESSENDEN, the bill was laid over, Mr. CHANDLER giving notice he would call it up to-morrow.

The bill supplementary to the National Currency act was taken up.

Mr. CATTELL said this bill would correct what experience had shown to be a defect in the system, namely, a plethora of money in Eastern cities to the impoverishment of other places, resulting from sending bank reserves, which are intended to be the conservative power of the system, from the country to city banks, which pay interest on them and appropriate them as if they were usable capital, thus destroying the reserve required by law to be kept. Banks were properly lenders, not borrowers. When they departed from their proper sphere they became speculators in money. His friend from Missouri (Mr. Henderson) would probably, before the session closes, introduce some measure looking to an increase in the volume of currency for the benefit of the West, when the manifest tendency of the practice he had referred to, would be to continue the scarcity of money. The only thing to correct the evil, in his opinion, was such a bill as the present one forbidding the practice.

Mr. CAMERON said the country banks found it necessary at certain seasons of the year, when their funds were otherwise unemployed, to keep their balances in the city to draw interest. He moved to amend the bill by inserting in the first section as follows: "Nor shall any bank located in said cities loan to brokers or other persons engaged in stock speculations any portion of their funds." He then suggested, that as this bill required consideration, it be laid over.

On motion of Mr. MORRILL, of Maine, the bill was laid aside, and after discussing whether to take up the Union Pacific Railroad bill, as desired by Mr. HOWARD, or the Naval Appropriation bill, as moved by Mr. MORRILL, the latter prevailed.

Considerable discussion followed on the amendment striking out the provision making Navy Yard employes subject to appointment by the President, with the consent of the Senate.

Messrs. FESSENDEN and JOHNSON advocated it, and Messrs. SUMNER, WILSON and others opposed it.

The proviso was stricken out by a vote of twenty-three to eight.

Other amendments were agreed to.

Pending final action on the bill, the report of the Committee of Conference on the bill in regard to covering into the Treasury the proceeds of captured and abandoned property, and on the bill to relieve certain manufacturers from internal tax, were presented by the Clerk of the House, with the announcement of the concurrence of the House.

At the instance of Mr. SHERMAN the latter was immediately taken up, and he explained that the Senate amendment had been substantially agreed to, and also explained the nature of the House amendment punishing whisky frauds by fine and imprisonment.

After some discussion the report went over till to-morrow.

Mr. WILSON offered a resolution, which was adopted, providing for sending the bill passed over the President's veto last evening to the Secretary of State for promulgation, signed by the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House.

Without further action on the Navy Appropriation bill, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The morning hour was occupied in business appertaining to the District of Columbia.

Subsequently Mr. BOUTWELL, from the Reconstruction Committee, reported a resolution calling on the Secretary of War for copies of all the reports made by Maj. Gen. Meade to the General of the Army, relating to the election in Alabama. Adopted.

Mr. THOMAS offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Claims to inquire into the expediency of devising means for ascertaining the precise amount severally due to loyal claimants by the United States, for which payment was not now authorized by law, and providing for payment thereof by grant of public land, &c.

Mr. SPALDING presented resolutions of the Ohio Legislature in relation to the right of naturalized citizens abroad. Referred to Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. ASHLEY, of Nevada, introduced a bill making agricultural scrip receivable in payment of preemption claims. Referred to Committee on Public Lands.

The SPEAKER, at a quarter before two o'clock, laid before the House a message from the Senate communicating the President's veto of the bill amending the Judiciary act and its action thereon.

The veto message was thereupon read, and the Speaker stated the question was, Will the House, on reconsideration, agree to pass the bill?

Mr. WILSON, Iowa, took the floor.

Mr. WOODWARD at the same time sought the floor.

After some discussion, Mr. WILSON, who announced his intention to move the previous question, yielded half his hour to Mr. WOODWARD, who argued against the bill, reasserting the position already taken.

Mr. HUBBARD, Conn., also opposed the bill, and Mr. WILSON closed the debate in its favor, finally moving the previous question, under the operation of which the bill was passed over the veto—yeas one hundred and twelve, nays thirty-four—a strict party vote.

The SPEAKER proclaimed the bill became a law, it having passed the two Houses by the Constitutional majority, notwithstanding the President's objections.

The Conference report on the bill to cover money into the Treasury was made by Mr. WASHBURNE, of Wisconsin, and agreed to.

The Conference report on the bill exempting certain manufactures from internal tax was presented by Mr. SCHENCK. The House recedes from its disagreement to the Senate amendment about contract machinery in reference to drawbacks, none to be allowed after the first of June next. In reference to tax on sales the tax is to be on the sales of all manufactures of $5,000, save where specially provided for. The provisions to gaurd against whiskey frauds is somewhat altered.

After the Canference report was read, Mr. SCHENCK proceeded to explain its provision about closing up all distilleries in a district where whiskey is on sale for ten days at less than the amount of tax, which caused various interrogatories to him. He said bad as the whiskey frauds were in Chicago, they were a little worse in New York and very much worse in Philadelphia.

Mr. BROOKS supposed the object of the bill was to stop distillation in great cities and confine it entirely to the rural districts.

Mr. SCHENCK denied that, and said the rule was general, applying to rural districts as well as cities.

Mr. BROOKS remarked that most of the frauds in cities were perpetrated by men coming from rural districts.

Mr. SCHENCK thought it very likely. He added, that men who were born away up in New England, and who wandered down to great cities, were very apt to fall into bad practices [laughter] and to become rather demoralized.

Mr. HOLMAN inquired whether, if whiskey were shipped from the West to New York, and sold in New York at less than the tax, the effect of the provision would be not only to close the distilleries in New York, but also to close the distilleries in the district from which the whiskey was shipped.

Mr. SCHENCK said it would only apply to the district where sales are made.

Mr. BOUTWELL suggested the case of a new whisky speculation, in order to have distilleries closed up, would combine to sell whisky for ten days below the tax, and then, the distilleries being all closed, raise the price in the market.

Mr. SCHENCK did not think that a very likely case. The worst possible consequences that could follow would be the distilleries would be shut up, and he did not think there would be many tears shed on that account. It might be some innocent, pious distiller would be injured, but his impression was that where one instance of wrong would be done to an innocent, God-fearing distiller, (laughter) there was much likelihood of catching a thousand rogues.

Various other questions were put by Messrs. VAN WYCK, STEVENS, (Pa.,) BOUTWELL and others, and replied to by Mr. SCHENCK.

Finally the report was agreed to without division.

The bill making partial appropriations for the Indian service was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. BOUTWELL, from Impeachment Managers, reported a resolution that after Monday next the House will postpone action on all matters except questions relating to the impeachment of the President until the conclusion of the trial in the Senate.

The resolution provoked much discussion.

Mr. DAWES represented that the Committee on Elections had four important cases to bring before the House, which would occupy much time.

Mr. PIKE suggested that considerable business might be done in the morning hour.

Mr. SCOFIELD said if the House had sessions during the trial, the result would be that all matters which ought to be defeated would be passed, and all matters which ought to be passed would be defeated.

Mr. PIKE inquired whether that remark did not apply to much of the legislation done at present?

Mr. SCOFIELD said it did, and that thin Houses were always sought for the passage of improper measures.

Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, inquired whether the resolution had been authorized by the Impeachment Managers?

Mr. BOUTWELL replied that on consultation between a majority of the Managers it had been agreed to.

Subsequently, owing to the suggestion of Mr. Stevens, Mr. BOUTWELL withdrew the resolution and the House adjourned until to-morrow, when the session will be for business purposes.

In the trial of the case both Italian and German interpreters were necessary. Verdict not guilty.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been approved, the President stated that as this was a special meeting for the purpose of election of directors, nominations would be the first thing in order.

The question as to who had the power to elect the officers of the road, having been raised here, considerable discussion ensued, participated in by Messrs McDonald, Gallagher, Taylor, and others, after which, on motion of Mr. Gallagher, the action of the previous meeting, in regard to giving the directors power to elect the officers, was rescinded.

On motion of Mr. Taylor, the election of a President by the stockholders was then declared to be in order.

In response to an inquiry, the President pro. tem. stated that the Board of Directors would have power to fill all vacancies in office.

SUGAR-MAKING.

BY ALICE CARY.

Now the winter winds, retire,
And the winter ice is breaking,
And the old folks by the fire
Sip and talk of sugar making.

'Tis the wild and windy March,
And the month the question settles
That 'tis time to mend the arch
And to scour the rusty kettles.

Time to set the hut to rights,
Where the girls and boys together
Tend the furnace fires o'nights
In the rough and rainy weather;

Time to hew and shape the trough,
And to punch the spile so hollow,
For the snow is thawing off
And the sugar-thaw must follow.

Soon the blue-birds and the bees
O'er the stubble will be winging;
So 'tis time to tap the trees
And to set the ax a-ringing.

Oh, the gladdest time of all the year
Is the merry sugar-making,
When the swallows first appear
And the sleepy buds are waking!

—During the war most of the English papers sided with the South, and predicted all sorts of awful punishments for the horrible crimes of the North. Victory caused them to change their language; but now they have all returned to the change, side with Mr. Johnson and predict anarchy and bloody revolution as the consequence of the action of the loyal party. Victory will again show them that if they meddle in American politics, they will get their fingers burnt.

AN ENGLISH VIEW OF IMPEACHMENT.

No American journal has expressed a clearer conception of the origin, progress and present culmination of the present movement to free the Republic from its most dangerous enemy, than is contained in the annexed paragraph from the London News:

The House of Representatives is proceeding steadily and warily in the impeachment of the President. There was some appearance of precipitation in the sudden change of tactics which resulted in the passage of an impeachment resolution so soon after its apparently final rejection; but we now know enough to understand the movement. In the duel which Mr. Johnson has forced on Congress he has at least exposed an unguarded point, and the watchfulness of his antagonists has enabled them to strike a decisive blow. There could be no doubt that his administration was altogether hostile to the laws he administered, nor that he wished to encumber or obstruct the policy of the Legislature; but it was rather in the spirit than in the letter of his Administration that the hostility manifested itself. His correspondence with General Grant revealed him still more clearly in this attitude of illegality, and proved that he was desirous that his subordinates should act in opposition to the law, though he would neither do so himself nor give them written directions to do so. Such an attitude was at once seen to be a moral justification of impeachment, and the proposal was therefore revived. But men cannot be tried and condemned for their intentions unless those intentions have assumed the form of deeds, and Mr. Johnson's illegal intentions had not led to distinctly and definably illegal actions. He had foolishly hoped that Gen. Grant would act illegally, and had more foolishly complained of the General for not doing so—but he had not ventured himself on any overt act of illegality. The proposal for impeachment was, therefore again rejected by the moderate feeling of the House. But the very failure of the revived proposal seems to have given Mr. Johnson courage. Either under the idea that Congress had begun to fear him, or goaded by the taunt that he had asked Gen. Grant to do what he himself was afraid to do, he made the false move for which his opponents had been waiting. In the attempt to remove Mr. Stanton and to pass over General Grant in defiance of the Tenure of Office act, he had committed a misdemeanor under the act, and exposed himself to its penalties. It was just the one thing needed for the legal justification of a step which had been morally justified long ago. It gave his wary and skillful opponents exactly the opportunity they needed. He had long deserved removal; now he could be legally and constitutionally removed. Hence, therefore, the sudden change of tactics by the leaders of the House of Representatives, and the passing of the impeachment resolution by the whole vote of the united Republican party. Mr. Johnson, in his impetuous assault on Congress, exposed a vital part, and his enemies saw their opportunity and drove their weapon home.

THE Chicago Tribune says: "Whatever opinions may have been held by individual Senators as to the expediency of impeaching Johnson, now that the question has been brought before them, there is not the slightest indication of a wish to evade or postpone it. He has twelve partisan friends on the bench who vote for anything his lawyers demand, but beyond these he cannot find a man base enough to abandon the constitutional prerogative of the Senate, as a body whose advice and consent is necessary to give validity to Executive appointments. His doom is sealed."

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 138½.

WASHINGTON gossips say the President will subpœna a hundred prominent lawyers of both parties, to testify upon the legality of the tenure-of-office-bill.

IT IS stated that a bill extending for one year the operation of the voluntary feature of the Bankrupt law, without the fifty per cent. restriction as it now stands in the thirty-third section, has been agreed upon in the House Committee, and is expected to be adopted in both Houses.

THEY SAY, at Washington, that the little unpleasantness between Mr. JOHNSON'S Secretary, SEWARD, and his confidential friend, Judge BLACK, is likely to result in a publication by the latter of a review of sundry transactions in the State Department, with the promise of "rich developments." Since these gentlemen have fallen out, we have faith enough in an old adage to believe that the public may ultimately be profited.

WILL the COMMERCIAL tell us by what alchemy, what was monstrously wrong in 1860 was transmuted into an incontestible right in 1868? The "little joker" sort of management in politics always perplexes us.—Pittsburgh Gazette.

What the Gazette denounces in 1868 it applauded in 1860. Therefore, it is probable that our neighbor is fully able to answer his own question. We have observed that "the 'little joker' sort of management in politics" usually becomes perplexing when those who chiefly practice it lose.—Commercial.

This attempt to escape a manifest dilemma by holding the Gazette, under its present management, answerable for its course eight years ago, under a totally different ownership, but shows a want of manliness and honesty that would put even an ordinary gorilla to shame.

THE SKIES look bright in Connecticut. Our friends, understanding precisely the magnitude of the work before them, do not hesitate to speak encouragingly, and even with assurance, of a victory to be won. They are working hard, and in the ten days yet to come will work the harder, and such work, with such intelligence to back them, upon the straight clear issues of national politics, can hardly fail to win. There are no side-issues this year; that nice Democratic dodge was "played out" in 1867. Each party will bring its voters square up to the mark upon the great questions of the day, and we are bound to win if we have fair play at the polls. Connecticut has been in past years a favorite theatre for the exhibition of Democratic thimble-rigging in the almost countless varieties of election frauds which some of their leaders so well understand, but our friends have by this time found out what hurt them before, and mean to make a repetition of the game too dangerous to be attempted.

DECIDEDLY the brightest scintillation of curb-stone genius which has lately been telegraphed from the Capitol is the statement that the Chief Justice, having revised the Constitution and expunged those provisions which confide the trials of impeachment to the Senate, proposes to take upon himself, being by the Constitution its presiding officer, the function of the exclusive decision of all legal questions which may be presented during the pending trial. Doubtless the Chief Justice will not be restrained, any more than he has been, from entertaining such views upon these points as his own judgment may prompt. If he sees fit, he will suggest these views to the Senate, and if the Senate sees fit, it will adopt them as its own. Until then, we recommend all our Bohemian and Johnsonian friends to possess their souls in patience. The Senate will try this impeachment in the whole and in detail, in its course and in its issue, and is not likely, at present, to suffer itself to be divested of its Constitutional functions.

CONGRESSIONAL opinion is chrystalizing fast and favorably around Senator STEWART'S measure relative to Alabama. This bill proposes very sensibly and consistently to authorize Alabama, if she prefers civil reconstruction to military control, to go to work once more in regular course under the existing laws of Congress. And she should be thankful for this opportunity to reconsider her former unwise action. There is little doubt that the majority of the Republican members have convinced themselves of the impolicy of any attempt to overcome the difficulties of the question in any other than the regular way. If Arkansas has chosen also to stand in her own light, by the sullen disloyalty of her reported rejection of the submitted Constitution, let her continue to stand so, just as long as she pleases. The day is close by when these unreconstructed rebels will discover that their powerful friend no longer controls the Executive head of the nation, and that a little humble-pie will be a decidedly more salutary diet than the east-wind with which they have filled themselves under his mischievous administration.

RAILWAYS AND CANALS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

We are indebted to Auditor General HARTRANFT for a copy of his last annual report upon the Railways and Canals existing within this Commonwealth. It is a work of much value, and is prefaced with a map, carefully prepared and handsomely executed, so as to exhibit the Coal, Iron and Oil deposits, and all the avenues of rail and artificial water communication, together with the connections of these latter with similar works in the coterminous States.

According to the report there existed in this State, at the close of the last year, seventy-eight different lines of railway, extending in the aggregate, as near as can be ascertained, 3,097 miles. This is not over, but under the actual number of miles, some of the companies failing to make returns of the number of miles of track owned by them. It must farther be remembered that this aggregate only includes the surface lines, while many hundreds of miles of railway exist under ground, in the various mining districts.

These seventy-nine railways have eighty-nine different branches, of more or less length, which swell materially the combined length of track, though the precise figures are not given.

In constructing these various railways $200,554,676 of Capital Stock have been paid in, while the Funded Debt amounts to $119,364,166 more; making a grand total of $319,918,840, exclusive of the Floating Debt.

There are 354 engine houses and shops, 1,958 engines, 940 first class passenger cars, 498 baggage and express cars, 17,304 freight cars or trucks, 32,526 coal cars, 281 iron bridges, 1,395 wooden bridges, 328 stone bridges, 1,181 depots and stations, 612 wood and water stations, and real estate held to the reported value of $5,864,061.

During the year there were transported 4,392,964 through passengers on main roads, 19,232,103 passengers (all classes,) carried in cars, 7,550,587 tons of through freight, and 35,562,319 tons of freight of all kinds. Of this freight 15,482,140 tons were anthracite coal, 4,931,378 tons bituminous coal, 834,624 tons petroleum, 628,779 ton pig iron, 358,950 tons railway iron, 349,227 tons other iron or castings, 1,501,564 tons iron and other ores, 735,654 tons lime and limestone, 1,196,386 tons agricultural products, 1,209,506 tons merchandize, 695,790 tons manufactures, 952,750 tons live stock, 1,246,680 tons of lumber, and 886,085 tons of other articles.

The receipts of the roads were, in the aggregate, $70,205,868. The expenses—maintaining roads and real estate, $12,317,852; repairs of machinery $11,099,863; operating roads $18,725,811; total, $32,432,257. Net earnings, $37,771,611.

Of the 19,232,103 passengers transported 10 were killed and 76 injured; of the employes 126 were killed and 215 injured. Of others, 167 were killed and 303 injured. Total, killed 303 and 415 injured.

There are thirteen canals, with an aggregate length of 972¾ miles. Capital paid in, $35,257,155; Funded Debt, $23,956,315; real estate held, exclusive of canals, $53,950. Tons transported, 7,626,521. Receipts, $3,327,920; expenses $1,601,856.

Here are materials for reflection. The railway interest has become one of the most important in the Commonwealth, not only in itself, but in its bearings upon other interests. That railways do their work well is attested by the remarkable statement that of nineteen million and a quarter of passengers carried, shorter or longer distances, last year, only ten were killed and seventy-six injured. This is a significant commentary on the periodic outcries raised against railways as traps on which to catch and destroy people.

The net earnings of these improvements, do not reach ten per cent on the capital invested, which must make it difficult, in many cases, to pay even small dividends and yet be able to carry something to the sinking funds for the ultimate cancillation of indebtedness. A few of the lines, having special advantages in the sections through which they run, and in consequent command of business, do better; but the most prosperous are not making the rate of profit considered usual and fair in various branches of manufacturing and merchandizing, or even in banking. This shows that popular clamor about high tariffs on railways are without foundation, proceeding solely from the cupidity of those who raise it. Capital invested in railways and canals ought to pay ordinarily as well as capital invested in other pursuits. If it did all the railways that are needed would be speedily built. The certainty of small profits or absolute loss which attaches in multiplied instances to suscriptions for stock prevents men from aiding in these enterprises. Hence, the development of the resources of many regions is delayed. When the bulk of business men adopt rational, not to say, liberal views on this point, there will be less cause for complaint of tardiness in engaging in new lines of communication.

It deserves notice, moreover, that the larger part of the passengers and freight transported arises from local business. Nor should it escape observation that what are rated as "through" freight and travel in the tables, and in the foregoing summary, are not so in the sense of extending beyond the boundaries of the Commonwealth. By far the larger part of these railway lines cannot in any proper sense be denominated "trunk" lines. They are purely local; but passengers and freight passing over the entire length of either are set down as "through" though not carried more than from ten to fifty miles.

On several of the great trunk lines of communication, not only in this, but in other States, the mass of business falls into the category of "way." Making an investigation, a few years ago, upon this head, we were surprised to find that upon the Erie Canal, stretching between Albany and Buffalo, the great bulk of the tonnage began and ended in the State.

These various considerations show that even the most prosperous of the "trunk" lines cannot pay dividends of any amount, or even meet expenses, without maintaining at least the average rates prevailing through the lost five years, on way business. On this trade the managers of these lines are in condition to demand remunerating prices, and have rarely gone beyond it. As to business having choices of channels, they have been constrained to accept the unavoidable competition, and do the best they could under it. The owners of business having these choices of lines have a decided advantage and will not fail to use it; but we do not perceive how railway companies can exist if they put down way business to the same rates as through business. If all these companies were subject to one lesislative authority, there would be no difficulty, for the supreme power could and would come in and regulate discrepancies by annihilating competition. As this cannot be done so long as the State governments shall be maintained or, at least, so long as those governments control the railways within their respective limits, we do not see a remedy for the discriminations in rates of which there is general grumbling.

Railways have come to be a vast money interest in the State. It is but a truism to affirm that in proportion as any interest mounts towards being the greatest money interest in a community, it will assert and enforce control. This explains the power which railway corporations actually exert. Possibly some folk perceive an efficient remedy or counterpoise for this control. If so, we confess their perceptions are sharper than our own. Ten years hence the railway system will have expanded much beyond its present enormous dimensions, and as it shall increase the power of those who direct it will inevitably be augmented. Its power can only be partially neutralized by competitions between the different lines composing it; but then there will always remain essential points on which all the parts will certainly be agreed, and for which they will act unitedly.

PARDONS.

As considerable interest has been shown in the Legislature on the subject of pardons, we trust that the rules of His Excellency, JOHN W. GEARY, will be strictly enforced.

There is no use in having Courts if, after conviction the pardon is an easy matter of obtainment. Governor GEARY has the confidence of the people, and higher honors await him, and we trust he will rigidly adhere to the side of public justice and the rights of the people. The rules he issued on taking office are as follows, and meet universal approval:

REGULATIONS FOR PARDONS.

1. No pardon will be granted until notice of the application therefor shall have been given by publication, once a week, for two consecutive weeks, in a newspaper printed in the county in which conviction was had.

2. No pardon will be granted unless notice of the application shall have been given to the Judge who tried the cause, to the District Attorney or to the attorney who prosecuted—proof of which notice shall be furnished to this Department.

2. A certified copy of the whole record, including docket entries, minutes of courts, copy of indictment, pleas, and all other papers on file in the court relating to the case.

A full statement of the reasons upon which the application is based, setting forth all the facts; the notes of evidence taken on trial; letters from responsible persons in the community where the crime was committed; a recommendation from the jurors who sat on the trial, and if any of them refused to recommend a pardon, reasons given for such refusal; letters from the District Attorney, or attorney who tried the case, and a letter from the Judge setting forth his views on the subject of the application.

4. Recommendations for pardons for unexpired terms of sentence, must have a copy of the whole record, as before required. Also copy of commitment; petition from prisoner setting forth reasons, and statement from Warden and Inspectors of prison.

5. No personal application will be permitted.

6. All of the above papers, when submitted, must be accompanied by a printed copy of the same in pamphlet form, twelve copies of which must be sent to this Department.

If the parties are too poor the paper book need not be printed.

7. As these rules are intended to subserve the administration of justice they will be strictly enforced, and relaxed only when good reasons shall be furnished for so doing.

THE PROVIDENCE Journal, a newspaper understood to be owned and controlled by a gentleman whose great ability and untarnished political and personal integrity have qualified him most fitly to represent his State in the American Senate, concludes its analysis of the President's answer, with the paragraph annexed:

We must abstain, for want of room, from a discussion of the validity of these various defences. It would not, we think, be difficult to show that they do not constitute a sufficient answer to the matters charged in the articles of impeachment; with respect to one of them, however, it must be admitted, a novel and most important question has suddenly arisen in the practical working of our government under the Federal Constitution, and this is, whether, supposing an act of Congress to be palpably unconstitutional, the President would not be justified in disregarding it, and further, whether in violating a law of Congress he stands in any different position from a military officer who, on being tried by a court martial for disobeying the command of a superior, will be entitled to an acquittal if the Court should be of opinion that the order disobeyed was not a "lawful" one.

We copy the paragraph—not because we have the slightest doubt as to the opinions of either the journalist or the Senator, upon the "novel question" which is suggested, or upon the grave issues at the Capitol, which will be adjudicated in the light of palpable constitutional duty, but—because it strikes us as a very quiet suggestion of the absurdities into which Mr. Johnson's line of defence has plunged him.

REV. S. H. TYNG, Jr., "having silently suffered all that the ecclesiastical authorities desired to inflict," now addresses to Bishop POTTER a frank and urgent remonstrance against the "ignominous ceremony" to which he was subjected, and the "rudeness and attempted disgrace" with which the proceedings were conducted. He promises a full review of the whole matter and protesting against all the proceedings, renounces the authority of the tribunal in this regard, and appeals to the general judgment of the Christian Church.

THE peach-trees in Southern Illinois, are reported as in full blossom, and ripe strawberries are promised in three weeks.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The recent session of the Pittsburgh Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was one of more than ordinary interest to the members of that denomination, and also in some respects to the religious public generally. This Conference of ministers was organized about thirty years ago, and occupied a wider scope of territory than now, and few in number, has grown to be one of the largest and most influential in the Connection, numbering about two hundred ministers on its roll. Among the important actions of the body was the increase of districts from nine to eleven, and the reconstruction of the work is this city and neighborhood. Formerly the city and country work extending in one direction to Freeport and Butler, and in another along the Pennsylvasia railroad to Irwin station, was but one district. Now the city and country, within a circle of fifty to one hundred miles, is sub-divided into five districts, centering in this city. By this means the city and country work is equalized, and the ministerial power of these chief ministers will be felt more sensibly in this place, and, besides, each charge is insured more of the presence of the presiding elder than formerly, at the quarterly visitations. Lay representation never assumed the importance before it did on this occasion, and special action was taken in view of the early meeting of the General Conference at Chicago. The action of the Conference was highly conservative and falls short of the radical views entertained in some quarters. The delegates elected are of the same type and their views in accordance with the vote of the Conference on this question. Questionable amusements, elsewhere noticed, were placed under ban and condemned in decided language. The election of Rev. Dr. Nesbit to the General Conference, by a vote of four-fifths of the number cast, and the excellent report on the fiscal condition of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate, were complimentary in the highest degree. This Conference, as well as the Western Virginia Conference, two of the three patronising Conferences of the paper, have instructed their delegates to the General Conference, to vote for his re-election, as editor of the Advocate. These delegates having a majority, his return to the editorial chair for the third Quadrennial term, without a precedent, is insured beyond peradventure. Numerous as the changes have been in the appointments in the city and immediate neighborhood, we observed that Rev. W. H. Locke, A. M., is returned to Liberty street Church for the second year, and also Rev. L. F. Morgan, D. D., to Christ Church, and Rev. Dr. H. Miller to Smithfield street Church. The Rev. Dr. Pershing, President of the Pittsburgh Female College, who has been the Secretary of the Conference for twelve years, though quite a young minister compared with others in the body, has been honored twice with an election as Delegate to the General Conference. Although such names as Rev. Dr. R. S. Foster, of New York City, who received a large vote for Bishop four years ago, and President Bowman, of the Indiana Asbury University, are before the Church prominently for the high office of the Episcopate, yet such are the superior executive abilities and other qualifications of President Pershing, that his name has been favorably spoken of in connection with that office. This, to say the least, is highly creditable to this worthy minister.

From the full reports of the Independent of the great revival at Westerly, R. I., under the labors of Rev. J. D. Potter, the well known evangelist, we learn that nearly two hundred were converted in connection with his labors of several days.

The elegant new house of worship just erected in Mercer, Penna., by the Second United Presbyterian congregation, was formally opened for divine services on Sunday, the 15th inst. The structure is eighty-two feet in length and forty-seven in width. The services of the day were conducted by Drs. Gracey and Kerr, of Pittsburgh. The services of these divines are reported as being deeply interesting.

The American Churchman favors Evangelistic preaching, as a means of accomplishing great good. It thinks this work is needed in the Episcopal Church, and urges the authorities to organize this department of workers, as the field is white unto the harvest. In New England a systematic organization has been affected under the name of "The Episcopal Evangelization Society," Rev. Dr. Huntingdon, of Boston, President. Several Bishops have already made application to this Society for Evangelists.

A correspondent of the Catholic, writing from Meadville, in reference to various Church matters, alludes to a change effected by means adopted by the pastor, namely, to stop dancing at public places. For years the mania for dancing seemed to have seized upon the young men and women of the congregation. Frequent sermons were preached, but without success, until at length a society of the Daughters of Mary was formed, and one of the conditions of membership was to avoid all public dances. The Fenians on St. Patrick's day had a grand ball and tried to induce the girls to be present and dance, but the pastor held a soiree on the same evening, and but two girls out of seventy Daughters of Mary went to the ball and danced.

The Catholic, in an editorial on "The Trials of the Holy Father," urges that if its readers cannot add to the numerical strength of the gallant band recruited to sustain the Pope, they can aid the cause by their liberality and prayers. It proposes to publish the names of donors and sums contributed.

Facts indicate that the Moravians, taking their numerical strength and means, are doing proportionately more missionary work than any other body of Christians—at least they manifest more self-denial, and labor among a class of the most unbelieving nations in the world. The Esquimaux, negroes of the West Indies, and Hottentots, share largely of their labors. They are called the missionary pioneers of the Church.

Several evenings ago the members and friends of Rev. W. W. Roup, pastor of the Wilkinsburgh M. E. Church, made a surprise visit to the parsonage. Their object even became manifest when Rev. W. H. Locke, of this city, presented the parson and his wife with a purse containing a roll of "greenbacks," which, with other valuables, amounted to one hundred dollars.

The Pittsburgh M. E. Conference, at its late session in Greensburg, adopted resolutions denouncing Church Fairs and Festivals as of "doubtful moral tendency," and utterly disapprove of the "lottery schemes connected with them." One of the resolutions affirm that the attendance at improper places of amusements, as theatres and circusses, and diversions that cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus, as dancing and idle plays, as inconsistent with the plain Word of God and the Book of Discipline of the Church.

Rev. John T. Oxtoby, of the last Senior Class of the Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny, has been called to the pastorate of the Old School Presbyterian Church at Petroleum Centre. Rev. Samuel Sharp has also received a unanimous call from the new Church of the Valley, at Wood's Run, near this city.

Congregationalism thrives prodigiously in Brooklyn, New York. There are in that city fifteen churches, while there are but two in New York city, and one of these very feeble.

The Presbyterian says the Rev. E. M. Bird, late of Valatie, New York, has left the Lutheran and united with the Episcopal Church. Mr. Bird was the predecessor of Dr. Krauth at St. Stephen's Church, and the chief compiler of the English Hymn Book of the Pennsylvania Synod. At the division of the New York Ministerium, he could neither go into the General Council, nor remain in the General Synod, and has now found a theological resting-place in the Episcopal Church.

Rev. D. B. Bradford, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, Chicago, has received calls from three Old School Presbyterian Churches.

The Banner announces that a joint meeting of the Presbyterian churches in this city will be held at the First Church, Rev. S. F. Scovel, pastor, on to-morrow evening, to hear Rev. J. Smith Hays, pastor of the Walnut Street Presbyterian Church, Louisville, Ky., who is here collecting funds to aid that church to meet the heavy expenses incurred in defending its property from those who seek to carry it into the Southern Church.

A Son Kills the Murderer of His Father.

Sixteen years ago a desperado named John Pike, living near Dycusburg, Ky., on the Cumberland river, killed, without provocation, his neighbor named White. For this he was sent to the penitentiary for several years. White's son, Samuel, was ten years of age when his father was murdered, and then vowed that he would kill Pike whenever he should meet him. For a long while he did not succeed in doing so. On Saturday evening, however, Pike took passage on the Cumberland steamer Tyrone for Dycusburg, accompanied by his wife and daughter. White was second engineer of the boat, and Pike had been warned of the latter's threat, but did not heed it. The sequel is thus described by the Nashville Banner:

Pike had not been long on the boat before his presence was discovered by young White, who determined to at once avenge the blood of his parent, and accordingly watched his opportunity. Before the boat had started out from the wharf at Paducah, Pike went forward to the right staircase, leading to the deck, when he was accosted by White with the words: "You murdered my father; for that I intend to kill you," at the same time drawing and snapping his pistol. This having failed, he quickly raised a five-eighth inch iron poker, which he held in one hand, and knocked Pike headforemost from the top to the foot of the steps. Pike had no sooner reached the bottom of the staircase than White was upon him, inflicting violent blows with the poker on his head, one of which fractured the skull and exposed the brain. At this juncture White was pulled away by those who had been attracted to the spot, though he pleaded that he might be permitted to avenge the death of his father by killing the murderer. So bad was the character of Pike that no one seemed disposed to help him up from where he lay bleeding from five or six deeply cut gashes. His wife and daughter, screaming with grief and terror, went, at last, to his assistance. The wounded man asked his wife to take him up to the boiler deck. She replied she could not do so of herself, but when she, in an agony of tears, looked pleadingly around, some gentleman assisted the miserable man up the steps. He was laid upon the boiler deck, a physician was called, and his wounds dressed. Pike was by no means conquered. He freely confessed to having killed White's father, but swore that if he lived to get over his present wounds, that he would kill the son also. White was arrested, taken into Paducah and fined thirty dollars. Pike was put off the boat at his farm, twenty-five miles above. The physician stated that there was no possible chance for his recovery.

How Democratic Capital is Manufactured.

The Hartford Times has commenced another series of contortions over what is called "the attempt to force negro suffrage on Connecticut." And this reminds us of a little story illustrative of the adroitness and cunning of a Connecticut United States Senator.

Just about a year ago, while we were in the midst of the spring campaign, Senator Dixon and another New England Senator were conversing upon the subject of our pending election. Said Mr. Dixon, "I wan't to get something out of Sumner to-day that will help English at home, and I propose to make him say that he means to establish negro suffrage in Connecticut."

"Poh," replied the other, "you can't do that."

"But I will," said Dixon; "you see if I don't."

A few moments afterward Mr. Dixon got the floor and commenced a speech. He had laid out the ground shrewdly and the trap was set with all the Senator's cunning. A running debate shortly opened between himself and Sumner, and in the course of it the trap was sprung, Mr. Sumner making some sort of an answer that just suited Mr. Dixon's case. The speech closed suddenly, and Mr. Dixon went to the telegraph office. Before the Senate adjourned, he returned to the New England Senator with whom he had had the conversation, and showed him a dispatch from Hartford, stating that Senator Sumner's announcement that he was in favor of forcing negro suffrage in Connecticut was already bulletined in front of the Times office.—Hartford Post, March 20.

Topics and Gossip at the Capital.

Judge Black's desertion of the President because his Altavela claim was not protected by sending a man-of-war there, is regarded as an unblushing piece of black-mailing.

When the Senate retired for deliberation on Tuesday, on the extension of time to the President, Vice President Wade remained behind on the floor, conversing with members of the House, and others.

Mr. Schenck's new section in the bill repealing the tax on manufactures creates quite a flutter among the agents of the whiskey ring here. It virtually confiscates all whiskey offered for sale at less than ten per cent. below the cost of production and the tax.

Owing to the extravagant estimates made during the war for the army, there now remains the sum of $82,876,506 of unexpended balances, subject to the order of the Secretary. Of the one item for "collecting, drilling, and organizing volunteers," there is $13,757,397 now in the Treasury.

The athletic attendents that for several months have carried Thad Stevens to and fro between his residence and the Capital were startled a few days ago when, in performance of their duties, he halted them, and, gazing into each of their upturned faces, remarked in his quaint style, "Well, boys, what am I to do when you are both dead and gone?"

The President's counsel are busily engaged in the preparation of the defence. They have divided the work according to the special heads of the defence, and will prepare the lists of witnesses on Friday to sustain their case.

The President and his counsel are thoroughly disgusted with the character of the replication of the Managers on the part of the House. They denounced it as a gross insult to them, and say it is no reply at all to the President's answer to the article of impeachment.

The Impeachment Managers say that they will close the prosecution in four days, including the examination of witnesses. Much of their evidence will be documentary, which is expected to be admitted by the defence without requiring formal proof.

—A Washington special says the chairman of the House Postal Committee is authorized to report a bill to establish a line of American steamers between New York and European ports. The bill authorizes the government to lend aid, in the way of subsidy, in the construction of vessels.

Paint for Babies.

A baby was painted over its whole body with Pain Paint; although five months old, it weighed a third less than at its birth. She had constantly worried and cried; no one could tell the cause. It had been treated by physicians in vain. In three minutes after painting with Pain Paint it was quiet, and has received a painting every day for the last ten days by its mother. It is gaining rapidly in flesh and spirits, and bids fair to become a bouncing girl. Pain Paint reduces inflammation, removes pain instantly, invigorates the whole system, removes the bad effects produced by pills, mercury, cayenne, turpentine, liniments, and the narcotic influences of soothing syrups.

Pain Paint is sold at all drug stores at 25c cents, 50 cents, $1 and $5 a bottle. Hundreds test it free of cost at 170 Chatham Square, New York, and 622 Arch Street, Philadelphia, in the Drug Store. Others fear to test their remedies in public.

My little Bob,
He still will sob,
Another dose I'll give him,
And alas Bill,
He shall be still,
Soothing Syrup, what a living.

To feed a poor restless child with, and what ignorant or heartless mothers.

Pain Paint and Annihilator tested free of charge, at No. 116 Smithfield Street, Pittsburgh. S. H. Hastings, agent.

IT IS AMAZING

That the feeble should totter, with uncertain steps, over the face of the earth, in danger every day of falling victims to the morbid influences by which we are all surrounded, when a tested and proven vegetable tonic, capable of endowing them with the vigor they need, is procurable in every city, town and settlement. It might reasonably be thought that after the twelve years' experience which the world has had of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, ALL would know that its effect is to prevent disease.

At this season the atmosphere is surcharged with the seeds of intermittents, remittents, rheumatism, pulmonary disorders, bilious complaints and the like. Persons whose nervous systems are relaxed are the first to succumb to these distempers. Brace up the physical energies then with this potential vegetable tonic. It is the most powerful recuperant which the botanic kingdom has ever yielded to patient research and experiment. Try it. The blindest disciple of the old medical dogmas will at least admit that a tonic and alterative, compounded of approved herbs, roots and barks can do no harm, while the testimony of thousands invites a trial of its virtues. Vigor is the thing most needed in these cases, as well as in dyspepsia and nervous affections, and HOSTETTER'S BITTERS is the safest, surest and most wholesome strengthening preparation that human skill has yet concocted.

Hundreds of physicians have abandoned all the official receipts and prescribed this harmless tonic as a preventive and cure for all cases of Chills and Fever.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 120 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop. JOHN SCANLAN,

Coal Bluffs, Washington Co., Pa.

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. Hist these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

WANTED.—AGENTS FOR THE OFFICIAL HISTORY OF THE WAR: Its Causes, Character, Conduct and Results. By HON. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS. A Book for all sections and parties.

This great work presents the only complete and impartial analysis of the Causes of the War yet published, and gives those interior lights and shadows of the great conflict only known to those high officers who watched the flood-tide of revolution from its fountain springs, and which were so accessible to Mr. Stephens from his position as second officer of the Confederacy.

The intense desire every where manifested to obtain this work, combined with an increased commission, makes it the best subscription book ever published.

One Agent in Easton, Pa., reports 72 subscribers in three days.

Another in Boston reports 103 subscribers in four days.

Send for circulars and see our terms, and a full description of the work, with notices of the Press, &c.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, March 27, 1868.

Gold opened at 138¼, became firmer at noon at 139⅜, and closed strong at 138½. Moderate sales of gold by the Government and the scarcity of currency kept down the price of gold during the last few days, although there are indications of an advance during the early part of next month on account of the large imports and the usual demand for coin for excurtionists.

Government securities were weak and dull early in the day, but towards noon, the money market was easier, and a general advance took place; 1881's are the strongest on the list. The investment demand is very limited at present and sellers predominate, and judging from the general disposition among holders of bonds, it may be supposed that lower quotations are expected to be made during the next week.

In stocks there was a firmer feeling, but no activity. Railroad bonds are much neglected and generally lower; also, State bonds, which were quite firm and higher during the excitement in Erie, have dropped from one to two per cent. An active speculation is going on in the Missouri and Tennesseee bonds, which are a surer investment than Railroad stocks, and more profitable in the long run.

The money market is very active, but rates are confined to about one per cent. per month for regular endorsed business paper, anything beyond that is unsaleable, especially long paper, however good it may be, will not be accepted unless accompanied by collaterals.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz:

Gold, 138¼; 1881 bonds, 111; 1862 5-20s, 109⅝; 1864 do, 107¾; 1865 do, 108¼; Consols, 106⅜; 10-40s, 100½; 7-30s, 105⅝.

—Money is still very active in New York, and gold interest is reported to have been paid. The pressure, though severe, is not so great as last week, and the volume of business has been a good deal diminished. Commercial paper sells at 8 to 9 per cent. for best to fair names. The demand for money is urgent with holders of Government bonds, upon which ¼ per cent. has been paid per day to carry them, and until relief is had in that quarter little can be looked for in the general market. During the winter large amounts of money were placed in government stocks for temporary employment; these stocks are now coming upon the market, and are a heavier load than can be readily taken.

—The New York railway stock market was firmer during the morning, and prices were well sustained on the leading shares, but later in the day the market weakened, and a heavy decline occurred on New York Central and Erie, with which other shares sympathised to a limited extent. At 4:30 o'clock the market was a shade better. Express stocks were generally steady. Government securities opened stronger and more active, with an advance on the whole list, but they closed dull and prices a shade lower.

—The reports of railway managers in regard to the condition of the winter grain favorable, and great expectations are entertained as to the spring and summer traffic. The amount of wheat held over is large, and a good deal in excess of 1867. Passenger traffic is increasing, and the rolling stock of some leading roads is fully employed.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, March 27, 1868.

CRUDE—The market was quite active to-day, the reported sales reaching 12,000 bbls, mainly for early deliveries, and while there is a pretty stiff feeling, prices are without quotable change. Spot oil is in demand at 8¼c, but holders are firm at 8¾c; sale of 1300 bbls, on spot, at 8¾c; 3000 do at 8¾c; 4000 do at 8¾; 1000 do at 8¾c; 1000 for April, at 9c, and 1000—yesterday—to be delivered between the first of April and 10th of July, at 9¼c. The arrivals are increasing steadily, reaching about twenty thousand barrels to-day; the river could not possibly be in better condition tor boating oil than it is at present, and there is no reason why all the oil in readiness should not come forward. It should be borne in mind, however, that the great proportion of the oil now arriving has been contracted for long since, and, therefore, the amount to be thrown upon the market will not be as large as many have been led to suppose.

REFINED—There was rather more activity manifested in the market for bonded oil to-day, and while the sales, in the aggregate, were considerably larger than usual, prices are not quotably higher. The following sales were reported: 500 for April at 25½c; 500 for May at 26c; 1500 for March at 25¼c; 500 for first and 500 for last half of April at 25½c; 1000 for last half of July at 27½c, and we are cognizant of a sale having been consummated last evening of a "line," commencing with May and ending with December, at 26c for May, and advancing half a cent for each subsequent month.

ARRIVALS—The following are the reported arrivals of oil to-day:

IRON AND NAILS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, March 27, 1868.

There was a general conference of iron manufacturers here on Thursday, in which there were several representatives from other points. Statistics were shown, from which it appears, that the exports of Iron and Nails from this place, thus far this year, exceed considerably those of the same time last year, and, it was also shown that there are a much larger number of orders booked than there was this time one year ago. This shows the iron trade of Pittsburgh to be in a very healthy condition, and as stocks are light, the demand brisk and steadily increasing, another advance is expected within the next few weeks. There is a very urgent demand for Nails, and it is said that there is scarcely a house here that can fill their orders—one firm reports that they are sold thirty days ahead. For bar iron the demand is also quite brisk, and stocks, as in the case of naits, are very much reduced. The following are the card rates:

PITTSBURGH METAL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, March 27, 1868.

The metal market has again been comparatively quiet this week, the sales in the aggregate, being light; but with limited arrivals and reduced stocks, especially of standard forge irons, prices are firm and well maintained. Foundry irons are a little dull but unchanged, while Blooms, if anything, are held with greater firmness. The reported sales were as follows:

New York Dry Goods Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 27.—The Dry Goods market for Printed Calicoes has advanced fully one cent per yard all around, although there is still some irregularity in prices. The demand, however, has partially subsided. We quote Merrimac Cambries at 16; do D 12½; Spragues 13½; Pacific 13½. Richmond Chintzes 13½; do regular makes 12½a13; Oriental 15; Cocheco 14; Freemans 11; Arnolds 11½; Amoskeag 12½; Lowell 11; Wamsut'a 9½. Stocks generally exhausted. Tendency upward. Heavy Brown Sheetings still irregular, but all the cheap lots are now bought up. Pacific extra steady, at 16½; Lawrence C 16; Indian Head 18, which is one cent too high. Atlantic A closed out and scarce at 17. Medford is still selling at 15½, which is cheap, and Lawrence E, also very cheap, at 15. On the whole the market is dull and irregular, but stronger.

PETROLEUM TAX.

When sifted, the discussions on the subject of this tax resolve themselves into this question: Is there any good reason why refined coal oil, the product of man's skill and labor, should be subjected to tax, when other products of that same skill and labor are exempted? There must be some reason for such discrimination, and the reason ought to be such as should satisfy the judgment and conscience of those who sincerely desire to lessen the general burden of taxation and at the same time not ruinously diminish the revenue of the country. Looked at in this light, it is impossible to comprehend the exception made in the proposed bill against refined coal oil. The rule which ought to guide us in the desire to relieve tax payers may sometimes conflict with a rule whose object is the saving of the revenue—and it is, of course, desirable in the present circumstances of the country to secure both benefits. Are not the following propositions reasonable and just? And are they not pertinent to and decisive of the question?

1. Those products ought to be first taxed which are most generally used and which are either used for the gratification of vicious appetites or are of pernicious consequence to individuals and yet the production of which is legalized; but even in these cases the tax ought not to be so high as to drive both producer and consumer to fraud or to destroy the production, because in either case the revenue suffers and the tax by its excess defeats itself. It is then evident from this principle, that whisky, brandy, gin, ale, in fine all distilled and fermented liquors, tobacco in all its forms, and other articles of the same class needless to mention are proper subjects of taxation, and that the taxation, if not excessive, would subserve the legitimate objects of taxation.

2. All products should follow next in order, which minister simply to the amusement—the vanity, the pride or the ostentation of men—because those who love these things and are able to pay for them, would continue to do so, in spite of the tax, and those who are not able, ought not to do so, for what tends to impoverish an individual can be nothing but an injury to the community. Articles that properly fall under this rule would be, of course, cards, billiards, jewels and the like.

3. Those articles indispensable to the uses of human life—without which it is impossible to live, in comfort and decency, are precisely those which should be exempted from taxation altogether or taxed so lightly as not to affect either production or consumption. The poor must have these as well as the rich—the want of them is the fruitful source of every form of crime and whilst it may be true that abundance gives birth to its own peculiar temptations and sins—it is to the despairing need of men, in civilized communities to their hopeless want and destitution, that most of their crimes can be traced. It is the laboring poor—the toiling millions of human beings whose labor underlies all change of raw material into products which are valuable, who ought to be protected and for whose protection every just man should strive in the enactment of any system of taxation. What gift of heaven, made available for man's use by man's wisdom and toil, in the extent and preciousness of its benefits to men, can vie with the product under discussion! To the order, the comfort, the decency of life, light is a necessity! There is quite as much wisdom as wit and honor in the amusing essay of Elia, wherein he discourses of candles. Whoever can lower the cost of its production is a public benefactor. Whoever unfavorably discriminates against it, in legislation, is either thoughtless or heartless, and such it seems to us is the character of that legislation which relieves other manufactures altogether and subjects the refined oil, which has become a necessity to the whole community, to the continued operation of a tax whose burden falls upon that portion of the community least able to bear it. We are told by good statisticians that the tax even reduced, as proposed, will be seventy-five or eighty per cent. above the cost of production. The cost above production on coal gas is about seven per cent. Coal gas is used by the opulent and the middle classes of the community, coal oil by the inhabitants of the country and by the humble and poor, but industrious and laboring class, we may without exaggeration say by millions of them. The effect upon them is absolutely cruel, and would be more felt and denounced if it could be brought directly home to the observation and reflection of men, as it might by varying the mode of collection; if after the sale of coal oil by the dealer to the consumer, at, let us say 18 cents per gallon, the collector should immediately follow and demand nearly as much more on every gallon, or three-quarters as much, how soon the grevious wrong of such a tax would be felt and denounced—it ought to be understood, once for all, too, that the system of bonded warehouses and the army of hungry officials it necessitates, is the cause of a large portion of this burden and must remain unless the whole tax be taken off. The question is one which concerns every man of moderate means—and whilst we deplore anytning looking towards a hostile relation between classes in the community, if the wealthy and powerful, abuse their means and power to shirk the burden of the country, and grind yet deeper, by unjust taxation, the faces of the poor, they must look for the hostility which the instinct of self-preservation prompts. The poor virtually fought the battles of the country. Are they to pay the debt of the country, too, out of the scanty pittance won by their toil? Idle men may waste their time and means at billiard saloons, vain women flaunt in diamonds unburdened by this most paternal Government, but the laboring man and poor needle-woman, when they light their humble lamp to continue into the sorrowful night their weary work, must hand over twice the real price, not of a needless luxury, but of an indispensable necessity. Such is the wisdom of the world's rulers. These be thy Gods, oh! Israel.

America in Europe.

Putting this and that together—the presence of Admiral Faaragut and his fleet in the Mediterranean, and the new treaty between the United States and North Germany—the French politicians think they "smell a rat." What do you think they have imagined? A treaty, offensive and defensive, between Prussia, Russia, Italy and the United States! They give very substantial reasons indeed why such a fact should exist, and see none why it shouldn't There is not a little talk of that sort just now. The good folks who get up these plausible theories, however, are usually profoundly ignorant of America, and our affairs, or else forget entirely that we have a great interior problem to solve before we can help European despotisms fight each other. I have already told you how stupidly many intelligent Frenchmen think and talk of the United States. An amusing book might be made of the queer mistakes they make.—Paris Letter.

LADIES, when having their photographs taken, may observe the following rules with some advantage to their appearance:

When a lady would compose her mouth to a bland and serene character, she should say "Bosom," and keep the expression into which the mouth subsides.

If, on the other hand, she wishes to assume a distinguished and somewhat noble bearing, not suggestive of sweetness, she should say "Brush," the result of which is infallible.

If she would make her mouth look small she must say "Flip;" but if the mouth be already too small and needs enlarging, she must say "Cabbage."

If she wishes to look mournful she must say "Kerchunk."

If resigned, she must forcibly ejaculate, "S'cat."

—The menufacture of pressed tinware was extensively carried on in the establishment of the St. Louis Stamping Company which was burned down on the morning of the 21st. It was the only factory of this kind in the West; in fact, there are but two other similar factories in the United States—one in New York and one in Philadelphia. The whole of the main factory is in ruins, and the loss cannot be far from $15,000.

SEC. 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Select and Common Councils of the City of Allegheny, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the consent of the Councils of the City of Allegheny is hereby given to the "Federal Street and Pleasant Valley Passenger Railway Company" to lay out and construct a railway, and for that purpose to enter upon and occupy the following streets, viz: Starting at the centre of the Diamond; thence along Federal street to North avenue; thence along North avenue to Monterey street; thence along Monterey street to Jackson street; thence along Jackson to Fremont street; thence along Fremont street to Washington avenue; thence along Washington avenue to Taggart street; thence along Taggart street to Hilldale Cemetery. The same to be constructed with single or double track, with turnouts and sidings, and to traverse said streets with their horses and cars, subject to regulations and restrictions hereinafter mentioned and described, provided the tracks along North avenue be laid on the south side of said avenue, and no sidings be allowed on said avenue.

SEC. 2. Said Councils shall have the right, from time to time, by ordinance, to establish such regulations in regard to said railway as may be required for the paving or repaving, grading or culverting and laying of pipes along said streets, and to prevent obstructions thereon.

SEC. 3. That said railway, in constructing their road, shall conform to the grades now established, or hereafter to be established, of the said streets, and to keep in perpetual repair, for the period of five years, that portion of said streets lying between the rails of their track or tracks, and one foot beyond the outside of rails; said term of five years to begin from time of laying the track, and on and after the expiration of said term of five years to keep the said streets in perpetual repair from curb to curb, always subject to direction of City Engineer, with privilege of appeal to Street Committee, whose decision shall be final; and from time of running their cars to keep said streets clean, under direction of Street Commissioner, with right of appeal as before stated.

SEC. 4. That for the first period of five years after said Company shall commence running their cars, they shall not be subject to tax on cars and dividends; for the second period of five years the Company shall pay to the Treasurer of said city twenty dollars per year for each car and three per cent. upon all dividends declared; for the third period of five years thirty dollars per year for each car, and five per cent. upon dividends; and thereafter the sum of forty dollars per year for each car and five per cent. upon dividends, the payment of the sum assessed upon each car to be made one month after beginning of second period of five years, and at the same date annually thereafter; and the said cars shall be numbered as drays and carriages are now numbered, under the ordinances of said city regulating licenses of said vehicles. The President of said Company shall annually, on the first Monday of July in each year, make a written return under oath to the Controller of said city, of the number of cars which may at any time during the year run upon said road, and the books of said Company shall at all times be open to the inspection of the Finance Committee or any other Committee appointed for that purpose.

SEC. 5. That said Company stipulate to construct their railway and run cars upon the route mentioned within six months from their acceptance of the provisions of this ordinance.

SEC. 7. The said Company shall put down, at all gutters crossed by said railway, iron culverts of a pattern to be approved by said said Engineer and Street Committee, and said culverts shall be the entire widths of the streets between the line of property, and the rails shall not be laid until the said culverts shall be put down.

SEC. 8. That this ordinance, and any contract entered into by virtue of it, shall be subject to modification or change any time after the expiration of ten years from time of acceptance hereof by said Company, by the city giving said Company due notice thereof.

SEC. 9. The city reserves the right at any time after the expiration of twenty years from date hereof, by giving the Company one year's notice of such intention, to possess said road and stock by paying for the same at a rate fixed by five disinterested appraisers, to be appointed at the request of said city by the President Judge of the Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny county.

SEC. 10. This ordinance shall not go into effect, neither be published nor recorded, until said Company shall file in the office of the City Controller an agreement, under the seal of the Company, accepting this ordinance, with all its provisions and conditions, and covenanting that any failure to comply with the terms hereof shall, at the option of said city, work a revocation of the privileges herein granted.

SEC. 11. That nothing in this ordinanae shall be construed to give the said Railway Company the privilege of running any other than passenger cars on said road.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Popular Prices.—The Wholesale and Retail Dry Goods Store of William Semple, Nos. 180 and 182 Federal Street, Allegheny.—An Immense Stock at Reasonable Prices.

Mr. Semple has purchased an immense stock of seasonable goods which he is selling at very popular prices. We venture to assert—and with our knowledge of financial affairs in New York we feel assured we are correct—that the heavy stock of goods carried by Mr. Semple could not, at the present time, be duplicated at the same figures at which they are now supplied to the patrons of this house, and of this fact merchants and dealers may be convinced by favoring the establishment with a purchasing visit. Aside from buying their goods at Semple's as cheap as they can be purchased in the east, the merchant and dealer save large items in fare, freight, hotel expense, &c., in traveling. Hence, it is clearly apparent that it is a matter of pure economy for merchants and others, who buy to sell again, to bestow their patronage this side of the mountains, more especially when equally choice varieties are offered at as low, if not much lower, prices at the extensive and well managed house of Mr. Semple.

We cannot attempt to do full justice to the enormous stock of goods held at this establishment by entering into details. Few of the jobbing houses of the metropolitan cities carry more goods through a season than will be found on the shelves, counters, and in original packages at this house. The stock has been selected with unusual good care, and cannot fail to suit persons of all shades of taste. Here we have an endless variety of rich poplins and foreign and American silks, which are very good, and will coax a violation of the sacred injunction not to covet our neighbor's goods from our mildest and sweetest wives and daughters. The silks are in all shades of colors and of elegant texture. Then the variety of plain and figured delaines, ginghams, alpacas, chintzes and other dress materials is very great and must prove enticing to the purchaser. The house makes a specialty of trimmings, ribbons, Shaker hoods, bonnets, hats and ribbon flowers and general millinery and straw goods. Milliners and others in that line will find all the latest styles from which to make selection. Irish linens and white goods are also made a leading specialty, and the assortment in this line is in keeping with the display found in the other departments. A full assortment of cloths, cassimeres, jeans, flannels, and all goods of this description for men and women's heavy wear, presents quite an attractive feature to the general buyer. But we cannot go on enumerating, for our paper contains not enough space to name and properly classify the almost numberless articles of dry goods, housekeeping goods, furnishing goods, wearing apparel, hosiery, gloves and general notions. Readers must visit the establishment in order to form a proper idea of the extent and character of the establishment of Mr. Semple, and the reasonable and popular prices which prevail throughout every department. Perhaps we can enlighten our readers on the latter point by quoting a few of the prevailing prices, from which a fair estimate of the general run of articles may be obtained. Here are a few of the retail prices selected at random:

Merrimack Prints	12½	cents per yard.
Cocheco Prints	12½	" "
Dark Ginghams	10	" "
Delaines	12½	" "
10-4 Sheetings	37½	" "
Heavy Unbleached Muslin, yard wide	12½	" "
Bleached Muslin, do	12½	" "
Extra wide Crash	12½	" "
Jeans	12½	" "
7-4 Table Draper	22	" "
Cassimeres	50, 62½ and 75	" "
Black Alpacas	37½, 45, 50, 62½	cents per yard.

All Wool Delaines at 31 cents per yard.
Imperial Popin silks at 75 cents per yard.
Colored Kid Golves at 75 cents per pair.
Black " " $1,00 "

And so on. The reader will remember that these are but a few of the prices given, so that an estimate of the remaining prices may be made.

There are many items of importance which enter largely into making up the immense stock held by Mr. Semple such as pillow case muslin, pillow case linen, 10-4 and 11-4 sheeting, 10-4 and 11-4 linen sheetings, tickings, linen and cotton, table draper, towels and toweling, (very cheap) shirt fronts, beautiful white and Marseilles quilts, &c., &c. But as we before remarked our readers must visit and see for themselves.

From long personal acquaintance and business dealing with Mr. Semple we are prepared to commend him in the most hearty manner to the patronage of our readers.

Larceny by Bailee.

A very peculiar case of larceny by bailee came up before the Mayor yesterday, the facts of which are as follows: Emeline Russell, employed John Bavendolf, the driver of an express wagon, to haul a trunk and other baggage from the Monongahela wharf to the St. Nicholas Hotel. The baggage was loaded in the wagon and a man who accompanied Miss Russell, and who was represented as a brother, got in to ride to the hotel. Instead of driving to the hotel, however, the reported brother had the expressman haul him to Allegheny and over half the city in search of a house. When the driver started to the hotel with the baggage, he demanded eight dollars for his services, which the brother said the sister would pay. The sister, however, refused, and said that she had not employed him to do more than haul the baggage to the hotel, and tendered the driver a dollar which he refused to receive. He refused to give up the baggage, and hence the information. He was arrested and taken to the Mayor's office, when he stated that he only held the goods as security for the payment of the eight dollars, and was ready to deliver them as soon as the money was paid. Notwithstanding this, he was required to give up the goods, and compelled to pay the costs in the case.

The amount demanded by the expressman might have been exhorbitant, but his refusing to give up the goods under the circumstances could in no way be construed as larceny by bailee, and we seriously doubt the propriety of compelling him to pay the costs.

Horrible Crime—A Simple Girl Outraged by Four Young Men—She Dies of Her Injuries—The Perpetrators in Custody.

One of the most brutal and fiendish acts we have ever been called upon to chronicle, occurred in Butler, Butler county, Tuesday evening last, resulting in the death of the victim Wednesday morning. A simple, inoffensive girl, about sixteen years of age, the daughter of respectable parents, who reside in Butler, was on Tuesday evening taken into a stable by four young men of that place, who are also of respectable families, and her person repeatedly outraged. She was kept in the stable for a greater part of the night, and was removed to her home by her outragers, where she died the next morning about nine o'clock. The affair created an intense excitement in the town, and one of the perpetrators confessing the crime, he and his confederates were at once arrested and committed to jail.

Coroner's Inquest.—Coroner Clawson yesterday held an inquest on the body of Edward C. Cole, the little boy who was killed on Federal street Thursday, a full account of which appeared in the GAZETTE of yesterday. Several witnesses were examined, whose testimony corroborated the facts as stated. The verdict of the jury was to the effect that death resulted from an unavoidable accident.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Last night was the occasion of Lotta's benefit at the Opera House, and there has not been a larger and more respectable audience at any place of amusement this season. The "Female Detective" was presented, in which Lotta sustains five characters, all of which she rendered in the highest style of the art. To say that she is a star actress, is not sufficient, she is a constellation of stars within herself. At the matinee this afternoon, she will appear in "Paul the Pet of the Petticoats" with "Nan" as an afterpiece. The house will doubtless be crowded.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—The "Old Theatre" is still doing a good business, and the excellent company is daily increasing in popularity. The Goldin Brothers are the best gymnasts and acrobats we have ever seen. Their feats on the horizontal bar are truly wonderful, and must be seen to be appreciated. The lightning Zouave drill, by Mr. Austin and sister, is astonishing, and the ballet dancers are unapproachable. Matinee this afternoon.

500,000 DEVILS.—Mr. Zerboni the manager of the German Theatre in the Academy, has brought out, with a good deal of expense and trouble, a new extravaganza styled "Five Hundred Thousand Devils." It is one of those pieces, a constant succession of which has made Kroll's Theatre in Berlin, a piece filled with popular songs, witticisms and local allusions, absurd situations and impossible costumes. With that charming soubrette, Mme. Zerboni, and the exellent low comedian of the troupe, the piece with all its own intrinsic excellences ought to have an extended run. Even for those unfamiliar with the German language the songs, scenery and costumes ought to be sufficient attraction to fill the Academy.

Travel Obstructed—A Bridge Caved In.

Friday morning, between four and five o'clock, the bridge on the Farmers and Mechanics Turnpike at Soho caved in, completely obstructing the passage of all vehicles over the road beyond that point. The bridge was a stone structure comprising one arch of considerable length, and for some weeks past has been gradually giving way, until at the time stated the slow but sure work of destruction culminated in a general cave in. About one-half of the bridge next to the river is in a pile of ruins. Since the consolidation of that district with the city will render the removal of the toll gate at that point, it is to be presumed that the Company will not go to the expense of rebuilding the bridge, but leave it for the city to do.

Expensive Drunk.

Frank Campbell was drunk on Thursday, and concluded to take a ride in the Pittsburgh and Temperanceville Omnibus. After riding some distance he observed a fellow passenger sitting opposite him, whom he mistook for the conductor. Feeling rich, and wishing to make a display of his money, he handed the supposed conductor a ten dollar bill, from which to take the fare. He took the money, and stated that he had not sufficient change at the time, but would hand it to him before he left the "buss." When Campbell next thought of his change, the supposed conductor was "non est." He appeared at the Mayor's office to make information against his victimizer, but as his name is unknown, it is not at all probable that he will be apprehended.

Personal.—We regret to learn of the serious illness of Rev. E. B. Snyder, the able and efficient pastor of the North Avenue, M. E. Church, Allegheny. He was attacked with hemorrhage of the lungs on Monday last, and since that time has been very ill. Strong hopes are entertained of his recovery, but it will in all probably be some time before he is able to attend to his regular pastoral duties. Rev. E. B. Snyder is one of the most earnest Christian laborers in our community and highly esteemed by the congregation whom he serves. We understand that his pulpit will be filled to-morrow morning and evening by Dr. Dempsey, Presiding Elder of the Pittsburgh district.

A Fortunate Man.—Officer Wilbert found a man lying on the sidewalk on Market street in a beastly state of intoxication Thursday evening. He was conveyed to the lock-up, and, upon searching his pockets, they were found to contain two hundred and eleven dollars, which was deposited in the safe to be delivered to him the next morning. He had improved by his night's rest in the "tombs," and yesterday morning was able to tell his name, which he said was John Diojon. He was highly pleased to know that his money was safe, and he was certainly lucky to fall into the hands he did.

Recovered.—Some two weeks since, our readers will remember, Algernon S. Bell had a valuable gold watch stolen from him while riding in one of the Allegheny and Manchester passenger cars. An effort was made to discover the thief, which, although not entirely successful, resulted in the recovery of the watch. Chief Green was employed to work up the affair, and a few days since learned of the departure of a suspected party for the West. He was traced to Columbus, where the watch was obtained in a gambling house. Chief Green returned to the city yesterday morning with the watch, which he handed to the owner.

Sidewalks Obstructed.—We do not know whether there is an ordinance in the code by which our sister city is governed, prohibiting the obstruction of sidewalks or not, but if there is, it is being sadly violated. The sidewalk on Federal street, between Water street and Market alley, is literally lined with boxes, crates, barrels, and every other conceivable package, to the great annoyance of pedestrians, especially ladies.

Special Religious Services at the Academy of Music, Liberty street, on Sabbath afternoon, commencing at a quarter past three o'clock. The celebrated young English Evangelist, Mr Harry Moorhouse, is again in our city, who will be present and address the meeting. All persons are invited who are not in attendance at public worship elsewhere. Seats free.

Sharp Case.—Nettie Sharp, a resident of Temperanceville, made three informations before the Mayor, yesterday, against her husband, Joseph Sharp, two charging him with assault and battery and one for surety of the peace. Joseph was arrested and held to bail in the sum of three hundred dollars in each case for his appearance at Court.

Base Ball Guide.—A neat little paper covered book of one hundred pages, price ten cents. Just what is needed by the thousands who are joining the ranks of the admirers of the great National game of base ball. For sale by W. A. Gildenfenny, 45 Fifth street.

Do not fail to read Col. Col. J. D. Egan's special announcement of rare old books and popular new books for sale at his news and literary depot, Sixth street, near Smithfield. No where else in the city can the purchaser be better accomodated.

Held for a Hearing.—John Vogan, charged, on oath of Moses Openheim, with obtaining money under false pretence, was arrested yesterday and taken before the Mayor, who held him to bail in the sum of $300 for a hearing.

Surety of the Peace.—John Brian made information before the Mayor yesterday, against John Driscoll for surety of the peace. He was arrested and held for a hearing.

Released on Bail.—William Mabaum, who was charged with selling goods by sample, without license, and committed Thursday, was released on bail yesterday.

An Impudent Thief.

The coolest piece of impudence we have heard of lately occured at the depot of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad yesterday. A few days since a trunk, the property of Miss Rhodes, at Connellsville, was shipped to that place, but by mistake brought back to the city and left in the baggage room at the depot, and as there was no address on it, no one about the depot knew to whom it belonged. Yesterday William Price walked into the depot, and seeing the trunk, claimed it, asked the baggage man at the station to assist him to carry it out, which, thinking the trunk belonged to Price, he did of course. It was removed to the Park Exchange, at the corner of Grant and Second streets, by Price's orders, who requested the landlord to keep it until called for. In a few minutes after the baggage man returned to the depot a despatch was received from Connellsville, describing the trunk, and requesting that it be forwarded to that place. The baggage man was called and asked if there was such a trunk in the room, when he stated that it had just been called for and taken to the Park Exchange. Officer Timony was sent for, and with the aid of the baggage man found the impudent thief and arrested him. The trunk was still at the Park Exchange, and it, with Price, was taken to the Mayor's office. The officer made information against Price, charging him with larceny, and after a hearing, he was, in default of bail for his appearance at Court, committed to jail.

Ho! For the West.

Next week some forty or fifty frugal and thrifty Bohemian families of this city will emigrate to the far west, purposing to colonize in Nebraska under the provisions of the homestead act. This delegation will be under the charge of our young and highly talented fellow townsman, Frank Elleck, Esq., late largely engaged in the hat and fur business on Wood street. He has resolved to cast his lot sn the new colony of the west, which is to be strengthened by large delegations from other neighborhoods of the State, and by some seventy families now on their way to this country from Bohemia. Last evening Mr. Elleck took his farewell leave of his many friends, entertaining them by a sumptuous banquet at the old Bank Exchange, on Third street. The occasion was a very pleasant one. We wish him and our departing worthy fellow citizens full realization of their dream of peace plenty in the far west.

False Pretence.

Jacob Haus made information before Alderman Mullin, of the Fourth ward, Allegheny, yesterday, charging Lewis Fisher with obtaining money under false pretence. Haus is a butcher, of the firm of Haus & Tracy, and Fisher, who is also a butcher, is a member of the firm of Fisher & Co. It appears that the prosecuecor purchased from the defendant a cow, for seventy dollars, which he alleged to be sound and healthy. The prosecutor butchered the cow the following day, when she proved to be diseased to such an extent as to render the meat unfit for anything but soap fat, and he consequently disposed of it to a soap boiler for thirteen dollars. The accused was arrested, and after a hearing, held in the sum of three hundred dollars for his appearance at Court.

Repudiation.

Ernest Worrell, a grocer in the Third ward, yesterday made information before Alderman McMasters, charging Annie Dawson with obtaining goods under false pretense. He alleges that the defendant purchased goods of him on credit to the amount of $13.22, representing that she was a married woman, and that her husband, John Newell, would settle the bill whenever called upon to do so. He presented the bill to Newell, who repudiated, saying that she was not his wife, and that as he derived no benefit from the purchases, he would not pay for them. She was arrested, and after a hearing was held in the sum of $500 for her appearance at court.

City Mortality.

Dr. A. G. McCandless, Physician to the Board of Health, makes the following statement of the interments in the city of Pittsburgh, from March 15th to March 22d, 1868:

Consumption 4; old age 1; apoplexy 1; effect of surgical operation 1; paralysis 1; typhoid pneumonia 1; convulsions 3; disease of lungs 3; disease of brain 1; catarrh fever 1.

Of the above there were, under 1 year, 5; from 1 to 2, 1; from 2 to 5, 2; from 20 to 30, 2; from 30 to 40, 2; from 40 to 50, 2; from 50 to 60, 1; from 70 to 80, 1; from 80 to 90, 1. Males 15; females 2; white 15; colored 2; total 17.

Opera House, Sunday Night.—At the request of the Young Men's Christian Association, Harry Moorhouse, the "young English Evangelist," will deliver a discourse, to-morrow (Sunday) night at half-past seven o'clock, in the Opera House, Fifth street. At a quarter past four in the afternoon there will be two prayer meetings held under the auspices of the same Association, one at the "Allegheny Steam Fire Company's House," Irwin street, between Liberty and Penn streets, Pittsburgh, the other at the "Soldiers' League Library Rooms," on Lacock street, opposite "Anchor Cotton Mills," near Federal street, Allegheny.

Selling Goods by Sample.—J. Lantz, arrested on Thursday by officer Irwin, charged with selling goods by sample without license, had a hearing before Alderman Humbert yesterday. It appears from the evidence adduced that the accused was not doing a "sample business," but merely sold a few articles of his own private property in order to enable him to pay his hotel bill and leave town honorably. He was accordingly discharged.

To Housekeepers.—As general moving day is near at hand, there will be a great demand for tin ware, stoves and every description of house-furnishing goods during next week, and those in need of anything in that line will do well to call at the well known establishment of P. C. Duffy, 146 Grant street, who has on hand a full assortment of tin ware, stoves and house-keeping goods generally, which he is selling at very low rates.

Coal Boat Sunk.—Yesterday morning, about ten o'clock, a coal boat moored at Two Mile Run, on the Monongahela river, broke loose from its moorings, and was carried over the dam, totally destroying it. It contained about three thousand dollars worth of coal, which was all lost. We did not learn to whom it belonged.

Young Men's Christian Association.—The regular monthly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held in their rooms, No. 23 Fifth street, at half-past seven o'clock, this (Saturday) night. A full attendance of members is requested, as business of importance will be transacted.

Committed.—Abraham Weild, arrested Thursday on a charge of obtaining money under false pretense, an account of which we have published, had a hearing yesterday evening, and was, in default of the required bail for his appearance at Court, committed to jail.

Assault and Battery.—Magdalena Wenger yesterday made information before Alderman Taylor charging David Ford with assault and battery. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Assault and Battery.—John H. Vincent made oath before the Mayor, charging Charles Whalen with assault and batterv. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

A High Compliment.

From a very clever article in a late number of the New York Observer, entitled the "Secret of Methodism," we make the following extract:

"Noble enterprise and great success have attracted general attention to the peculiar powers of that religious organization commonly called the Methodist Church. For many years it has been appreciated by the country as an active, aggressive system, which had secured certain numerical results, giving it prominence among other members of the Christian body. But of late it has so asserted itself throughout the country that it now maintains a position among religious denominations more commanding than could be secured by mere numerical preponderance. Its educational institutions; its liberality; its architecture in many of the larger cities; its identification with great public interests; have made it known as a power to thousands who, some years ago, knew nothing whatever of its existence, save through the far-famed rusticities of the camp-meeting."

The prominence here assigned to the educational institutions of the Methodist Church is deserved. The Methodists as a body are wide awake on the subject of liberal education. Of late years they have built up many first class institutions, which are to-day doing great good. Prominent among these is the Pittsburgh Female College, of which Dr. I. C. Pershing, is the popular President. It is one of the very best young ladies' seminaries in the land. Its Spring session commenced on Monday last, but pupils will be received at any time. The forthcoming session promises even to excel the one just closed, both in large attendance and brilliant success. All information will be promptly afforded by Dr. Pershing on the application of parents and others, by mail.

Can Teeth be Extracted "Without Pain" Without Endangering Life?

They can by one process. and only by one, in the administration of chemically pure sulphuric ether. Drs. Morten and Jackson, the eminent discoverers of the anoesthetic properties of ether, bear testimony to the fact, that not a single death has resulted from the use of this agent. There are cases on record where Laughing Gas caused death. Therefore Laughing Gas, Chloroform and Chloric ETHER (a mixture of chloroform and ether) should be classed together as dangerous, and sulphuric ether recognized as the only safe anoesthetic. Ether is rejected by some practitioners because its use requires more time, more skill and many years practice to understand it thoroughly, while Laughing Gas is so easily administered, that any one of ordinary intelligence can become proficient in its use in a week. Dr. J. Scott has had nearly twenty, and Dr. Q. A. Scott ten years experience in the use of ether, and during that time have administered it to over TWENTY THOUSAND PERSONS without injury resulting in a single case, but with incalculable benefit to many who had been invalids for years. Understanding it so thoroughly they guarantee it to be perfectly safe in their hands. Dr. Scott has facilities for manufacturing one thousand gallons of pure Laughing Gas per day, and administers it, and chloroform also, when desired, but knowing both to be unsafe, will not recommend them. The Doctor gives an upper set of artificial teeth for $8, and upper and lower for $12, and warrants work for five years. No. 278 Penn street, third door above Hand.

N. B.—"Save trouble" by getting genuine vulcanite from a license under the Goodyear Patents, otherwise you are liable to prosecution for infringement.

Jersey Mud.

Dr. Spencer, No. 254 Penn street, requests us to inform the "Public" that he does not manufactinre any $8.00 sets of teeth as is advertised extensively in the community. The material of which the above is composed is nothing but Jersey Mud. Neither does he put up teeth on the worthless compound denominated "Dried Rubber" at $12 to $15 a full set, as is advertised. He has obtained a license of the Dental Vulcanite Company, on terms which will justify him in manufacturing the genuine Vulcanite sets of Teeth at a very low price, ranging from $20 to $30 for a full upper and lower set. The Dr. would not resort to any such catch penny eight and ten dollar sets of teeth advertisements to secure a business. His reputation is well established and his practice very large. Ten accomplished dentists and two young ladies are constantly in attendance, which enables the Dr. to dispatch orders on the shortest possible notice. The Dr. is a very pleasant and agreeable gentleman, and takes great pleasure in having persons call and examine his large and beautiful assortment of specimens.

Remember, the genuine Vulcanite only is used by him. Warrants satisfaction in every particular—254 Penn street.

Chronic Catarrh.

The eliminating organs of the human system are blamable in every catarrh disease, whether confined to the nasal organs or manifesting itself elsewhere in the human body. The whole subject of Catarrh and Bronchitis are elaborately treated in the February number of the University Journal of Medicine and Surgery, in an article written by Dr. Keyser of this city, who has given the subject of sub-acute diseases his earnest and devoted attention for many years. The Doctor is one of those who believes in the cure of every chronic malady, no matter of how long duration. He has published, at various times in the GAZETTE some of the most astounding cures that have ever been recorded by any one, and we have no doubt our readers, at least such of them as are afflicted with diseases, which they have been taught to believe incurable, would be greatly benefitted by our inviting their attention to his peculiar mode of treatment. His proprietory medicines are in no sense the only ones which are brought in requisition in the cure of diseases which he treats, for during the past thirty-five years he has investigated the whole subject of the materia medica, and it is scarcely possible that a man of his scrutiny would not in that time learn their mode of action on the human organism.

Come and be Healed.

The system of medicine practiced by the Great Arabian Physician meets with the approval of all liberal and learned physicians of the country, and it is no wonder that his rooms are constantly thronged with patients from all parts of the State, and diseased with all the ills to which flesh is heir. The G. A. P. does not warrant to cure all diseases, but he will cure most and render alleviation to every patient. His professional rates are not proportionately heavy to the great success thus far achieved in the treatment of the thousand cases which have come under his notice. Remember the apartments are located in the elegant Keystone Bank Building, corner of Cecil alley and Liberty street. Private entrance from Cecil alley.

American Pianos for Sweden, Prussia, Wurtenberg and Spain.

King Oscar of Sweden has ordered the Steinway Pianos to be used in the Royal Conservatory of Music at Stockholm, and presented to the Messrs. Steinway the grand gold medal of merit.

The Directors-in-Chief of Music to the King and Court of Prussia, Professor Taubert, has also introduced the Steinway manufacture at the Royal conservatories in Berlin, and has transmitted to their makers their Diplomas as Knights elect of the Society of Arts and Sciences. Again, in the Royal Central office for trade and commerce, a Steinway upright piano has been placed, by order of the Royal government of Wirtemberg, to serve as a model in this branch of manufacture. Of the four Steinway grand pianos, which lately went to Madrid, Spain, Queen Isabella got the first, and the others were bought by some of the most prominent Spanish grandees! Enough glory for one firm.
